Stand Up! It's both a credo and a call to action. Every day, we physicians stand up for our patients — against disease, against public health threats, against the incredible hassles of our health care system. And every day, the Texas Medical Association stands up for us — against insurance companies, against government bureaucrats, against the incredible hassles of our health care system. The thing is, TMA can't do our best for you and your patients unless you stand up with us.

Join TMA President Don R. Read, MD, as he discusses TMA's latest assault on onerous federal regulations, his personal connection to mosquito-borne viruses like Zika, TMA's plans for the 2017 Texas Legislature, and how you can stand up with him.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of the program, participants should be able to:

- Discuss prevention of and response to the unique public health threats physicians and their patients will face,
- Describe TMA's plans for minimizing the hassles of the health care system your practice encounters on a daily basis,
- Identify specific actions TMA is taking to address legislative issues on the state and federal level, and
- Explain how individual physicians and their patients can contribute to the success of the TMA legislative program.

Continuing Medical Education The Texas Medical Association is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians. TMA designates this live activity for a maximum of 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity. The Texas Medical Association designates this activity for up to 1 hour in the area of ethics and/or professional responsibility education.

Disclosure of relevant financial relationships Policies and standards of the Texas Medical Association, the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education, and the American Medical Association require that speakers and planners for continuing medical education activities disclose any relevant financial relationships they may have with commercial entities whose products, devices or services may be discussed in the content of the CME activity. The content of this material does not relate to any product of a commercial interest; therefore, there are no relevant financial relationships to disclose.
